Tennessee Gov. Clement Promises to Put Bombers of Clinton School Behind Bars

Like it or not, the Democratic Party will have to accept responsibility for the South's antipathy to integration, Tennessee Gov. Frank G. Clement admitted here yesterday.

"I could not, with honor, tell you the Democrats should shed off the responsibility for such illegal, despicable and unfortunate acts on the Republicans," he said in obvious reference to the recent bombing of the Clinton (Tenn.) High School.

In the best traditions of the old South, Gov. Clement swore to "get" the person or persons responsible.

Calls It Despicable

"We're going to do everything we can to send somebody to prison for bombing the Clinton High School," he said at a press conference in the Statler Hilton. "I think the dynamiting of the Clinton school was one of the most despicable acts of all time. It was a deplorable thing and its shocks the conscience of my State."

Gov. Clement was in Los Angeles to address the fifth annual Bond Between Us luncheon of the State of Israel Bonds in the Beverly Hilton.

Coast Guard Saves 3 Men

Three fishermen were rescued by the Coast Guard yesterday morning after being marooned 12 hours on Church Rock at the eastern end of Santa Catalina Island.

William Robertson, 38, of 265 N Vendome St., and John Stevens, 30, and Pat Marvin, 40, both of La Puente, were taken off the reef by rubber boat and brought to the mainland by a Coast Guard cutter.

Their boat lost its motor.

Tennessee Gov. Clement Promises to Put Bombers of Clinton School Behind Bars

Like it or not, the Democratic Party will have to accept responsibility for the South's antisegregation stand, Tennessee Gov. Frank G. Clement admitted here yesterday.

"I could not, with honor, tell you the Democrats should shuffle off the responsibility for such illegal, despicable and unfortunate acts on the Republicans," he said in obvious reference to the recent bombing of the Clinton (Tenn.) High School.

In the best traditions of the old West, Gov. Clement swore to "get" the person or persons responsible.

In his luncheon address, the Governor criticized U.S. foreign policy. He said it is "confused and indecisive."

"We badly need today a clear, firm, foreign policy which not only our citizens here can understand, but which our friends, like Israel, can understand," he said. "But more than that, one which our enemies can
